

Hi Julie,

WELCOME
TO WASHINGTON

Things to Do in Washington in the Fall

You're sure to FALL for Washington this time of year, with clear crisp weather that's not too hot or cold. We have all your typical fall favorites (apples, pumpkin patches and hay rides) along with a few traditions all our own. Welcome in this new season by trying some of the fun activities below.

Apple Picking in Wenatchee

Tucked under the beautiful peaks of the Cascades sits Wenatchee, which calls itself the "Apple Capital of the World". Washington ships and exports more apples than anywhere else in the United States. Visit an orchard or fruit stand during the fall to taste some of Washington's best produce right off the tree. Take home the rest of your bounty for pies, applesauce and more.

Leaf Peeping

Despite being called the Evergreen State, there are plenty of colors to see on the trees in autumn. The Hoh Rainforest, Mt. Rainier National Park and Columbia River Gorge are all great places to ooh and aah at reds, oranges and yellows. Even your local neighborhood park may have some great spots for leaf peeping.

Visit Tri-Cities

Sun shines on the Tri-Cities (Kennewick, Pasco, and Richland) almost 300 days a year. By visiting in the fall, you're extending the sunny summer and avoiding the usual crowds. Stop by one of more than 200 wineries, hop on a balloon ride during the Great Prosser Balloon Rally or enjoy the bounty of fall at Country Mercantile's Harvest Festival.

Washington State Fair

Let the smell of funnel cakes and the bright lights of carnival games take you back to your childhood at the Washington State Fair in Puyallup. This three-week-long festival offers typical things you may think of at a fair: tasty fried and grilled foods, a Ferris wheel with a birds eye view and booths with coveted prizes.

How will you keep things cool this Autumn? Have any questions about Washington or what it's like to live here? Reach out any time! We're here to help!
